Editor's Column

Statement of Carmel Point Anti-Annexation Committee

We are disappointed and disturbed to find that the Pine Cone has chosen to make a personal attack on those of us who oppose annexation of Carmel Point by the City of Carmel.

We had hoped that the question of annexation could have been quickly rejected — as it was six years ago—by a prompt consideration of the issues, as well as the expressed desires of the Point residents to be left alone. Instead, our integrity is questioned, and we are labelled by the Pine Cone as "irresponsible."

While the Pine Cone has a perfect right to join a few city residents in again promoting an annexation scheme, we believe that responsible journalism implies an obligation to consider the issues and wishes of the people most concerned before reaching a decision.

The Bureau of Public Administration has specifically stated that annexation should result from a substantial agreement among the people within the proposed area —not imposed by a city group wishing to enlarge its tax base.

More than 90% of us opposed annexation before and there is evidence of 95% opposition now. We resent this divisive and distasteful fight being thrust upon us against our will, and do not believe the Pine Cone is promoting either the interests of the City of Carmel, nor its relations with the residents of Carmel Point by its thoughtless accusation.

Signed:
Mrs. Gustaf Lannestock,
Claude P. Kimball,
Co-chairmen.

On June 25 in this column, annexation, pro and con, was discussed and this statement made, "We invite anyone interested, either way, to use our columns to express their views."

I should like to repeat other statements on annexation I made on June 25 . . . "A great deal of study is needed before any conclusions can be reached. The Pine Cone will join the shouting when an objective picture emerges from the present fog of discussion as it has done for 50 years."

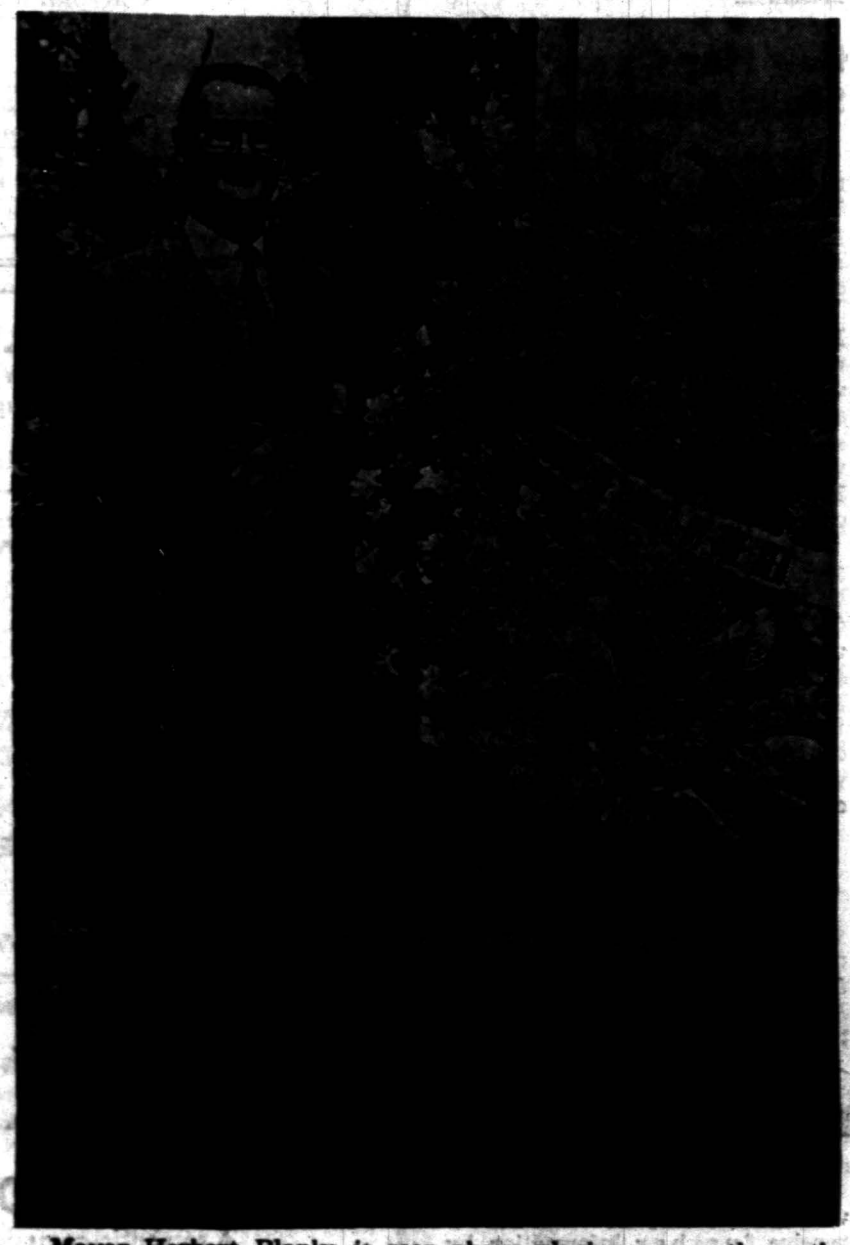
On October 15, also in this column, the following statement was made, "When a controversial issue arises, so, all too often, does irresponsibility." The column then discussed some statements made in a letter addressed to residents of Carmel Point. These statements, in my opinion, were not factual in respect to the city and I took issue with the members of the committee who had sent out the letter.

On October 22, Claude P. Kimball, co-chairman of the committee, asked if he could come to my office to discuss my comments. We set a time on Monday morning.

Also, on October 22, in this column, I reiterated the invitation to use the columns of this paper by any persons who wish to say anything about annexation, provided the communication is signed and does not offend any law.

Monday morning, Mr. Kimball presented a statement to me. In accordance with the invitations mentioned above, the statement is printed above.

I think the Pine Cone has expressed clearly its intent "to consider the issues and wishes of the people most concerned before reaching a decision." —M.L.



Mayor Herbert Blanks is seen above placing a wreath on the statue of Benito Juarez in Mexico City. Representatives of each of the 64 United States cities, in Mexico on a tour sponsored by the League of California Cities, placed similar wreaths bearing the names of their cities on the memorial to the Mexican hero.

Mayor Blanks reports that he had an interesting meeting with officials of Mexico City on October 19 and the same day met the Honorable Fulton Freeman, U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, who has a home here in Rancho Rio Vista.

Following five days in the Mexican capital, Mayor and Mrs. Blanks went to Yucatan before returning to Carmel this week.

Carmel Foundation Buys Motel Near Post Office

Carmel Foundation has embraced a small motel in its "Adventure in Neighborliness" program, Mrs. Fred L. Glascock, president of the organization dedicated to serving the senior men and women in our community, announced this week.

She reports that the foundation, on Tuesday, purchased the Winona Lodge on Dolores Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues. The nine units on the property will be occupied by Carmel Foundation members who will pay rent to the non-profit organization for their homes.

The purchase of the lodge is the realization of a plan begun 14 years ago. In 1950, when Carmel Foundation was incorporated, the importance of meeting the housing needs of older men and women in this community became a prime objective of the organization.

The foundation realized that the resort nature of Carmel puts a premium on small apartments within easy access of town. Therefore rentals in this bracket are much higher than in other cities and this situation creates a hardship for older permanent Carmel residents who have limited fixed incomes, are without cars and need lower-priced accommodations.

With this in mind, foundation members and other community-minded citizens have, through the years, made special donations and bequests for the purpose of acquiring the much needed housing.

The funds have been carefully husbanded and the first property was acquired a little over a year ago. This is a house at the corner of Lincoln and Eighth next to Town House, headquarters of the foundation.

Named Niles House in memory

Admiral Fisher Urges Council To Save Carmel

The blame for any development of Carmel which is distasteful to the residents was attributed emphatically, last night, to each and every citizen by Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.) in a plea to the city council for courageous action to prevent further deterioration of the unique character of the community.

At the request of Mayor Herbert Blanks, Admiral Fisher, president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, opened the three-hour discussion meeting on seven requests made by the committee to the council. These dealt with controls of business development, new sources of revenue and annexation.

Admiral Fisher, in a masterful presentation of what the citizens committee recognizes as community problems, urged the council to consider political and legislative innovations to "make clear our intent to save Carmel."

Admiral Fisher further stated, "We can do it if we will. Carmel is not helpless."

The council could enact new legislation and update existing laws to keep Carmel from becoming "a spiritual and esthetic offensive waste," Admiral Fisher declared, and would be supported by state and federal authority.

"I and 5,000 other people who live here don't want Carmel spoiled. Something should be done now before it is too late . . . If the community withers and dies all property values die," he added.

Admiral Fisher emphasized "citizens are not fighting," and, therefore, the blame for any distasteful development is "my, ours, everybody's fault."

Councilmen then, in turn, considered the points on which the citizens committee wished the council to establish policies or enact legislation. These were: maintain the "scale" of commercial development; limit size, bulk and ground coverage of business buildings; encourage small, locally owned businesses and discourage "chain stores" and "big business";

Planners To Invite Large Landowners To Public Meeting

Yesterday afternoon, Carmel planning commissioners set November 17 as the date for public discussion on the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan. Written invitations to be present will be sent by the city's planning director, Floyd Adams, to all large property owners in the vicinity of Carmel, also to interested organizations such as the Carmel Citizens Committee, the Carmel Business Association, property owners groups, and developers.

The meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. in city hall, is a preliminary step in the commission's study of the area plan in its relationship to the Carmel general plan, before making recommendations on adoption of the area plan to the city council.

Commissioners also suggested modification of the entrance design for the Carmel branch of the Security National Bank to Clyde Smith, architect for the remodelling of premises at the corner of

Bair Wants Added College Credits As Pay Increase Basis

Considerable discussion, pro and con, regarding suggested revision of rules and regulations governing teachers in the Carmel Unified School District, took place at last night's meeting of the board of education.

With a large delegation of teachers in attendance, the board reviewed changes recommended by the Association of Carmel Teachers. These centered mainly on sections dealing with the qualifying of certified personnel for increased salary ratings. These recommendations included periodic advancement on the salary schedule based on teaching experience and service alone, which would operate automatically. Also, whether or not additional college or other credits be required as a condition of advancement.

While many of the association's recommendations were adopted, some with slight revisions, others were left over for further study and future discussion.

These included the recommendations put forward by Superintendent Medill Bair, covering three main areas. The superintendent voiced his opinion that teachers should be required to earn six units or credits in each three year period, by courses taken at a higher level than those acquired at a prior time; that the courses or method of advancement be first approved by the board, and that this mandatory requirement be

Reflections on the highways and lights upon the shore — they twinkle in the byways and shine for evermore. The beer cans blithely blinking, old bottles light the way; discarded by unthinking despoilers night and day.

There's garbage in the gutter, there's trash in ev'ry lane; and paper scraps that flutter from mountains to the plain. It's mankind's way of saying: "We once passed down this road and took this means of paying for freedom a la mode."

Ah, Freedom! To its banner we gather, and proceed to demonstrate the manner and customs of our breed. We cherish this so highly — when cops are out of sight — we dump our garbage slyly, like some barbaric rite.

We laugh at this and chortle, "It's just a game we boost" — not thinking that this sport'll come home some day to roost. For liberty must rate respect, be kept a sacred trust; or someday, when we least expect, the Law will say: "You Must!"

Church Of The Wayfarer Sunday Will Celebrate 60th Anniversary

A series of events has been planned around the 60th anniversary of the Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel's oldest Protestant church, founded on November 4, 1904.

The Rev. Lawrence K. Whitfield has set next Sunday, November 1, as "Anniversary Sunday," using the birthday theme throughout his service. The congregation will sing a a hymn composed by the late Dr. E. Leigh Mudge for the church's "Golden Jubilee."

The Women's Society of Christian Service has chosen Mrs. Gordon W. Lundeen as general chairman of subsequent observances with Mrs. Fred L. Farley as her co-chairman.

Members and friends of the church are invited to a birthday tea to be held in the Garden Room of the church from 2 until 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. C. John Viking, chairman, will be assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. A. H. Scheldrup, Mrs. Hawley R. Fosnaugh and Mrs. Franklin M. Dumm. Mrs. William N. Eklund is in charge of flower arrangements and Mrs. Fred W. May of publicity.

Also taking part in the arrangements and serving are Mrs. Cree L. Wilder, Mrs. R. C. Catlett, Mrs. C. W. Lunt, Mrs H. J. Danelz, Mrs. Gordon N. Smith, Mrs. Thad Sigourney, Mrs. Earl Anderson, Mrs. Arthur O. Hahl, Mrs. A. G. Bolm, Mrs. Don Gillin, Mrs. Roger F. Wiley, Mrs. W. G. Pulliam, Mrs. Elmer W. Armfield, Mrs. Mary Vickrey and Miss Leah Miller.

Adding historical color to the gala event and appearing in costume typical of the 1904 era will be Miss Etta Paul, oldest member of the church (November 1926); Miss L. Lucille Turner, oldest Methodist member (79 years) transferring from Stockton in 1942 after attending summers; and Mrs. P. M. Rowe, one of the most active in Christian service activities of the church.

A "Way Fair" Bazaar, under the direction of Mrs. John R. Christy, is planned for December 4, with details to be announced later.

As members commemorate the 60th anniversary of the church's founding with various activities, they reflect back on the year of 1902 when J. Frank Devendorf, an early developer of Carmel, donated two lots to the Methodist Church when the beach colony had no church to its name and outdoor services were being held on the present site of the Village Corner.

The Rev. George Clifford, a retired clergyman, commuted from his home in Pacific Grove when he became the first pastor upon the completion of the first building. This first small edifice was of pseudo-Spanish style and stood where the chapel stands today. Within the year it housed a reed organ presented by one of the founding fathers, William Gilchrist. The "villagers," as Carmel residents were then called, provided the church bell which is still in use. This bell was used for purposes other than church, such as fire and other emergencies.

Additions to the building were completed in 1940, 1953 and 1956. The latter year saw completion of an expansion of the main chapel and erection of the fellowship hall. A new pipe organ, once in the Oakland studios of Mrs. Connell K. Carruth, was installed at that time and has since been used for recitals for the famed Bach Festival. History records only three organists for the Church of the Wayfarer: Josephine Culbertson, Margaret Lea Fisher and Mrs. Carruth, the present organist.

Among the more distinctive features of the Wayfarer (a name adopted in 1940) are the hand-carved walnut paneling of its chapels, formerly part of the chapel of the princes of the Bourbons in the castle of Nermi in Italy. The nearly 300-year-old wood was acquired from an estate in Pasadena 25 years ago.

Along Lincoln Street is the church's Biblical garden started in 1940 under the leadership of Mrs. George Beardsley and consisting of plants and trees mentioned in the Bible. Members of the church volunteer in the upkeep of this attractive form of landscaping.

The fellowship of the church is expressed in the recently established custom of the coffee hour following the two Sunday morning services in the Biblical garden.

Of its 424 members, Miss Etta Paul holds the longest membership in the Church of the Wayfarer.

Sealed Order Hike

by Kim Fries

Our Girl Scout leader asked us to come to Sunset School. When we got there she gave each patrol leader a sealed envelope with little pieces of paper inside, also a map.

On each piece of paper there was a message, such as, "Walk to Casanova and Thirteenth and name as many trees as you can along the way.

We did this until we got to Carmel River Beach. Trees weren't the only things we had to find and name. There were flowers and birds. The reason we went was to get us prepared for the longer hikes ahead. It also helped to learn more about trees, flowers and birds.

There were 24 girls attending. The most important girls were the patrol leaders, Brooks Bennett, Bonnie Banker, and Lesa Osserman. The supervisors were Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. R. Kelly and Mrs. Messman.

New Play Opens At Studio November 6

November 6 will be opening night at the Studio Restaurant-Theatre for Herb Gardner's wildly zany play, "A Thousand Clowns." This will be the second production of the new season.

The play's action centers around Murray Burns, an unemployed nonconformist television writer, who has been left to rear his precocious twelve-year-old nephew. A social service team comes to investigate the bewildered Murray. He has two choices—go to work, or marry the social worker.

"A Thousand Clowns" is a vital and brilliantly constructed spoof, filled with laughter, warmth and daffiness. It will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings for six week-ends.

Michael Keller, whose production of "Sunday in New York" closes its run this Sunday night, will again be sitting in the director's chair.

VISION TESTS FOR PRE-SCHOOLERS

Vision screening of children 3 - 5 years old will be held at Monterey Public Library on Wednesday, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. by the Monterey Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

These tests, using the standard Snellen charts and the E symbol, have proven most effective in detecting lack of visual acuity and muscle imbalance in pre-schoolers.

Parents are urged to take advantage of this program and may receive further information by calling Mrs. Lee Whitcomb at 624-7173.

Festival Services At All Saints'

Two festival services will be held in All Saints' Episcopal Church on Sunday, celebrating All Saints' Day.

The boy's choir, made up of boys from all parts of the Monterey Peninsula, and under the direction of Symphony Conductor John Gosling and All Saints' organ master, Robert Forbes, will sing at the 9:15 a.m. family service. The entire Sunday School, including kindergarteners and nursery members, will attend the service.

The All Saints' Orchestra, also under the direction of Gosling and Forbes, will be heard at the 11 a.m. service. All members of the parish will participate in the procession through the churchyard to the steeple memorial. The Reverend David Hill, pastor; Reverend Peter Farmer, associate, and Reverend Sam Smith, assistant, will celebrate.

Mr. Hill will extend the church's greeting to Carmel Mission Basilica, celebrating its patronal festival next Sunday.

On Monday morning there will be a solemn requiem service at 10:30 o'clock, celebrating All Souls' Day. The Reverend David Hill will officiate.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone
Madam:

I believe that most thoughtful voters, irrespective of their party affiliation, are anxious for as much information as they can get on election issues provided they know that the information is factual and not politically slanted.

To those voters I would respectfully suggest the reading of two short articles in the November issue of Reader's Digest which can be seen at the Carmel library.

These articles are "The Country That Saved Itself," page 135, and "Cuba, Castro and John F. Kennedy," page 283.

Wilfrid Smith

Editor,
Dear Madam:

The Girl Scouts of the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council have set aside the week of November 1 as "Appreciation Week" — the occasion for extending a very special "thank you" to the whole community.

Girl Scouting is an integral part of our community life. As individuals and as members of other organizations, the people of Carmel believe in the basic principles of Girl Scouting — to inspire girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, and service. You support these ideals in a multitude of ways. It may be by the purchase of a box of Girl Scout cookies; by contributions, small or large, of time, money, energy; by parental interest; by willingness of community groups to sponsor troops, provide meeting places or give other services.

For all these things, the Girl Scouts of Carmel are saying "thanks." Let us remember, too, that all those who have given something of themselves to Girl Scouting are enabling Girl Scouts to give back to the community.

For the Girl Scout program provides not only fun, learning and adventure for girls, it sparks their enthusiasm for vigorous participation as young citizens in the community, the country and the world.

Very truly yours,
Jo Manbeck
Community Relations vice president, Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council

Festival Theatre Foundation Formed

Announcement was made Tuesday of the formation of the Festival Theatre Foundation of California as a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation. Trustees of the organization are residents of the Monterey Peninsula who have undertaken to establish a professional repertory company in this area for a four to six month annual season of great plays.

They are Howard Brunn, Gordon Hall, John A. Harrison, Reverend David Hill, Sam Karas, Dr. James D. Niebel, Charles O'Gara, Frederick Rider, Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mark Thomas, and Nick Zanides.

The foundation is a successor to the Committee for a Festival Theatre, a group which brought the famed British stage director Sir Tyrone Guthrie to Monterey two years ago to explore the feasibility of their plan. More recently the committee announced that Douglas Campbell, who will follow Guthrie as the director of the Minnesota Theatre Company in Minneapolis, has agreed to act as artistic consultant to the California project.

The new corporation opened offices this week at 651 Cannery Row in Monterey. Marjorie Winfield, until recently a member of Campbell's staff in Minneapolis, is executive secretary of the foundation.

Hospital Trustees Approve Cancer Unit

Trustees of Community Hospital have approved a $350,000 expansion program to include construction of an underground cobalt-cancer therapy unit and expansion of the emergency department.

So far, $50,000 has been donated for the cancer treatment unit—$25,000 by the Bing Crosby Fund and $25,000 by the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula.

Subject to the receipt of additional gifts, construction is expected to start late next year.

Cost of the cobalt-cancer unit is estimated at $150,000, while expansion of the emergency department is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Persons who wish to contribute may send their checks to Cobalt-Cancer Fund, Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

Air Of Confidence, Competence Pervaded Opening Concert Of County Symphony's 19th Season

An air of confidence, competence, and general good feeling pervaded the opening concert of the Monterey County Symphony's 1964-1965 season at Sunset Auditorium Tuesday night.

The symphony inaugurates its nineteenth season with a broader base of community support and greater public participation than ever before in its sometimes struggling history. This vigorous support—on the part of the Symphony Association, the Symphony Guild, and the symphony audience itself—matched to the equally vigorous artistic and organizational talents of Conductor John Gosling and the demonstrated abilities of the present orchestra, promise a season of unusually satisfying achievement.

Tuesday night's performance gave substantial demonstration of what has been achieved, and what may be anticipated, by Mr. Gosling and his 71 musicians—approximately a third of whom are new to the orchestra this season. Orchestral tone, balance and discipline seem generally improved; with only six "imported" players, the orchestra performed with authority and precision generally.

A brisk reading of the robust and familiar "Academic Festival Overture" of Brahms gave initial evidence of a new richness in the orchestra's sound, emanating most conspicuously from what appeared, on the small Sunset stage, a small forest of basses—six, to be exact—which lent an authoritative rumble to an otherwise somewhat soggy string attack. The strings, however, improved progressively through the performances of Alan Hovhaness' "Mysterious Mountain" and the Dvorak Symphony No. 4, and will undoubtedly continue to shape up in forthcoming concerts.

The program, while providing satisfying evidence of the orchestra's total resources, allowed few opportunities for solo turns. Nevertheless, the work of several of the orchestra's principals deserves special note. In the brief solo passages alloted him, the new concertmaster, George Nagata, demonstrated admirable purity of tone and attack. The consistently high performance of woodwinds and brasses owes much to the example and leadership of Raymond Fabrizio, flute; Dick Grauel, oboe (whose name was inadvertently omitted from the program); Robert Lee, clarinet; and Ernest Smith, trumpet. Mr. Nagata and other of the principals should be heard to greater advantage on November 22 in the orchestra's chamber concert at Monterey Peninsula College.

Trumpeter Smith, incidentally, distinguished himself in sight as well as sound, through a handsome display of color and black-and white nature photography adorning the lobby of the auditorium.

If the program as a whole, or Mr. Gosling's conducting of it, can be faulted at all, it was in a certain sameness of tempo and texture, especially in the Hovhaness and Dvorak. While the evening's performance had no specific areas of weakness, it equally had no moments of high excitement or particular contrast. The overall result, however, seemed pleasureable and satisfying to the large, appreciative, and — recent criticism to the contrary—admirably well-behaved audience. —V.S.

Foreign Retailers Include Carmel In United States Visit

In Carmel for two days, a party of 17 European shoe retailers, 15 from Germany, and two from Sweden, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James Rowe.

The group was headed by Hans Weber, shoe retailer of Frankfurt Am Main, and editor of the national trade journal "Der Schuhmarkt." It was Mr. Weber who persuaded his companions that Carmel was a must on their itinerary that has included major cities across the country.

Mr. Weber drove across United States last May, as a vacationist. Between San Francisco and Los Angeles he and his party came upon Carmel. They met Jim Rowe and were treated to traditional Carmel hospitality, as well as visits to Mr. Rowe's shoe shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe were the welcoming committee when the visitors arived on Tuesday. The same evening they hosted a cocktail party and buffet dinner for the entire group, inviting members of the German department of the Defense Language Institute, headed by Hans von Richter, to meet their guests. Their son, Dean Rowe, a student at U.C. and a German scholar, came down from Berkeley.

Yesterday morning's program of entertainment included the Seventeen Mile Drive and, despite the afternoon rain, the European visitors drove down to Highlands Inn for cocktails.

There were just two ladies in the party. Mrs. Toni Altschualer, who with her husband owns and operates 11 shoe stores in Heidelburg, expressed keen interest in the casual shoes she has seen here —not as yet seen in European shops.

Mr. Weber stressed the fact that chain stores are unknown in Germany. "Shoppers in our cities prefer to know and patronize the same shop over and over. We feel, as you must here in Carmel, that the independent shoe retailer gets to know, and is interested in his customers' needs and preferences, and that is best.

"In just two visits, I find Carmel irresistible, Mr. Rowe's warm hospitality, this beautiful inn (Pine Inn) and your beautiful setting, all will bring me back, in the spring, I hope."

Sunday Hootenanny

It could be said that the hootenanny, which started Sunday afternoon about two o'clock and ended, through happy exhaustion of the participants, about eight in the evening, was a howling success.

But that wouldn't be fair reporting. Actually, the music provided by some 30 young singers and instrumentalists, was, mostly, melodious, and at all times, intriguing.

The party was held at the home of recently married Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyons. "But," Karen Lyons states, "we didn't start it. The idea was Dick Penoyer's, and he was responsible for the invitation list." Most of the young singers were non-professional, but Noon, Noon and Snow, (with one of the Noons unavoidably absent) gave their terrific swing to things."

Hootenanny parties at home are fast replacing bridge and conversation-libation parties. By comparison the latter are just plain stuffy.

SUBURBAN COUNCIL TO BE DISCUSSION GROUP

The Carmel Suburban Council, which met for the second time Monday night, is to be primarily "a discussion group," according to Harold C. Arnot, president pro tem of the organization.

With this in view, Mr. Arnot says, the feeling of the group is that no officers should be selected but chairmen chosen for "systematic get-togethers" of the group. Representatives attending council meetings from the property owners organizations in the unincorporated areas near Carmel would refer back to each separate group the matters discussed by the council. These matters, it is proposed, will be of common interest to all the separate neighborhoods.

Discussed Monday night were three matters pertaining to new subdivisions. These were the desirability of installing fire hydrants when a subdivision is developed; installing underground utilities; and exploration of available sanitation facilities.

The next meeting of the council will be on November 30.

John Stevenson

John Duncan Stevenson, under medical care for a heart condition, died yesterday morning in his home at San Antonio and Twelfth.

Mr. Stevenson, who was 79 years old, was born in Montrose, Scotland, March 17, 1885.

He was part owner of the Balfour Cheese Co., of Indianapolis, Indiana, for 40 years and retired from active business in 1939.

Mr. Stevenson was a member of the Calvin W. Prather Lodge 717 F&AM, of Indianapolis; also the Scottish Rite and Shrine Club, and he was also a member of Carmel's High Twelve Club.

Surviving are, his wife, Mrs. Margaret M. Stevenson of Carmel; two sons, Jack K. Stevenson of Carmel, and Roderick M. Stevenson of San Jose. Also, a sister, Mrs. John Daun of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; a brother, Chris Stevenson of Florida; six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Paul Funeral Chapel, with Carmel Lodge 680, F&AM officiating. Members of the High Twelve Club will be honorary pall-bearers. Burial will take place in El Carmelo Cemetery.

The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

CONCERT AT NEPENTHE

Music of Beethoven, Piston, Copland and Bach will be played at Nepenthe Friday evening, 8:30 p.m., by Ralene Pierce, piano; Donald O'Brien, clarinet, Robert Hughes, bassoon; Owen James, flute; and Onnie Taylor, soprano.

NEW LOCATION

Mrs. Gladys R. Johnston has moved her real estate office from Ocean Avenue to Seventh Avenue. She and her associates can now be found on this street between Lincoln and Monte Verde streets.

MOTEL TAX RAISED

The city council, last night, gave first reading and approval to an ordinance increasing the tax on all transient lodgings within the city limits to four percent. The increase from three percent to become effective on January 1.

GENTLE STORM

As far as public utilities services were concerned, Carmel happily survived the wind and rain of the first storm of the season.

Pacific Gas and Electric District Manager Mel Wood reports, "Carmel housewives went right on cooking in nice warm houses and electric lights didn't even flicker."

The Telephone Company's chief, David Muir, reports, "No trouble anywhere on the Peninsula."

The Sur Coast

HIGHWAY ONE ROAD REPAIRS

Resurfacing of Highway One from a point four miles south of the Little Sur River to the signal light at Carmel High School, is now in process. Work on the $300,000 project, which calls for a blanket coat of asphalt on this section of the coastal highway, is being done by Madonna Construction Company of San Luis Obispo. Presently the crew is working in the area of Hurricane Point and northward toward Bixby and Rocky creeks. There is traffic control in these areas and motorists may be detained for short periods, usually not to exceed fifteen minutes.

Rock and gravel being used in the road improvement is being taken from a site along the Little Sur River. A rock crusher, "hot" plant, rollers, trucks, paving machines, etc. are being operated by a crew of 20 men. Additional personnel may be added as the distance lengthens toward Carmel. The crew is working an almost "dawn to dusk" schedule in order to complete the job in the time allotted, which according to Alex Madonna, president of the construction company, he hopes to accomplish within two months. On a given day last week, five miles of the highway were resurfaced.

Prior to permission being granted by the Monterey County Planning Commission for temporary mining operations, and removal of the rock and gravel along the Little Sur River on the C. T. Hill ranch property, it was stipulated by the commission that the area of the operation must be cleared of all equipment and the land restored to its natural and/or original appearance within four months. Further it is required that certain conditions recommended by the California Department of Fish and Game should be strictly followed.

Another section of Highway One has been restored to good condition — an 11-mile section from Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park entrance south to Anderson Canyon. This work, a "seal coat" which covered cracks and uneven edges, was applied by the crew of the Big Sur maintenance station of the Division of Highways.

THE SHACK REMOVED

The Shack, the intriguing redwood structure, hung below the bluff at Doud Beach, and the home of Laura Reynolds (Elizabeth Taylor) in the M-G-M film, "The Sandpiper," has been removed from its romantic and now famed site. The house, which was a composite of several existing Big Sur structures, was built by a skilled crew from the motion picture company. It had the appearance of having stood through many years, beaten and weathered by the elements, though actually it was constructed and completed only the month before filming began in September. In granting permission for use of the Doud Ranch property by M-G-M and construction of the much-heralded "set," the Monterey County Planning Commission provided that the building would be removed and the ranch be returned to its original state within a specified time. This has been accomplished.

Jerry Kamstra, a resident of the Sur Coast, bought the building and dismantled it piece by piece, section by section. There were many people with a curious interest in the house and a desire for ownership, but Kamstra's bid to purchase was accepted by the Hollywood company because he had the ability and the equipment to remove the structure quickly and efficiently.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE DENGATES

The Ralph Dengates of Big Sur received news of their twin sons, Wayne and William, both serving with the U.S. Air Force. Wayne, now based in the Philippine Islands, is on active duty in the South Pacific. William has just graduated from officer's training school at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas and now as a second lieutenant is stationed at Glasgow, Montana, with the Strategic Air Command.

MUELRATHS VISIT JOHNSONS

It was a time of happy reunion in San Francisco this past week when the Philip Johnsons of Big Sur met their long-time friends, the Philip Muelraths of Hermosa Beach. Mr. Muelrath, a station coordinator for United Air Lines, based at the Los Angeles International Airport, and Mrs. Muelrath, returned from a trip in the Eastern United States and were greeted by Marge and Philip Johnson. Mr. Johnson, an avid sports

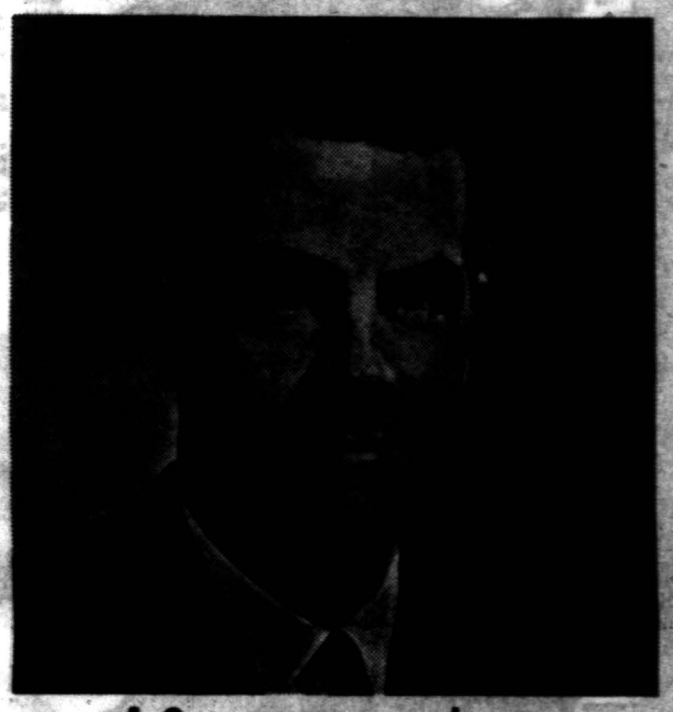
What kind of CONGRESSMAN do we need?



A Congressman who KNOWS THE DISTRICT
—not a newcomer from the East

Burt L. Talcott has been an active resident of this District for sixteen years. A Stanford Law School graduate, Congressman Talcott has been an active leader and officer in such groups as the Community Chest, Red Cross, Chamber of Commerce and Salinas Recreation-Park Commission, Junior Achievement, Inc., P.T.A., American Field Service.

A Congressman who has LEGISLATIVE EXPERIENCE
—not a newcomer who just talks

Beginning his service in governmental affairs 22 years ago, Burt Talcott was elected Monterey County Supervisor for three four-year terms by a large vote of both Democrats and Republicans.

He has been a distinguished representative of this District in Congress for the past two years. In all, Talcott has had ten years of legislative experience.

A Congressman who GETS THINGS DONE
—not a newcomer who just talks

As a community leader, as a County Supervisor, Burt Talcott proved himself a man of action. Among the things he has helped achieve during the past two years in Congress are the Civil Rights Bill... Federal Income Tax reduction... obtain "fringe" benefits for labor under the Davis-Bacon Act... and the Wilderness Conservation Act.

CLIP AND SAVE

Here's help for women who are in the dark when the lights go out.

The easiest way to deal with an electrical failure is to prepare for it. Keep a flashlight and fresh fuses handy. Know where your main switch and branch circuit panel are.

Is a fuse blown?

If only one or two rooms go out, a fuse has blown or a circuit breaker has opened. If service fails in a large part of the house, it's probably a "main" fuse or circuit breaker. If the neighbors' lights are out, too, call us.

Check the fuse box.

First, disconnect frayed cords and appliances on one outlet. Then replace any fuse in branch circuit panel ("fuse box") that has a smoked-up window or melted metal strip inside. Always replace a fuse with one of the same size. If you have circuit breakers ("on" and "off" switches) follow the instructions on the switch or panel.

Check the main switch.

If your lights are still off, check your main switch. If it's the fuse or cartridge type, the switch should be turned off before one is replaced. If your electricity is still off, call us. Or—if you have any doubts about the problem or the solution, give us a call.

Helpful tips.

If your electricity is off for any period, don't open your refrigerator or freezer. Frozen foods stay frozen longer if the freezer door is kept closed. If food starts to thaw, add dry ice. And don't forget: when electric service is restored, reset your electric clocks.

PG&E is ready to help.

If you have repeated fuse problems consult an electrical contractor. If you can't restore power for any reason, call us and we'll send a serviceman.

PG&E service

Since 1961 there have been 3 major reductions in PG&E rates. Today, the typical PG&E household customer pays less than 30 years ago for the same amount of gas and electricity. Which means PG&E service is a bigger bargain than ever.

are other situations wherein the use of signs by property owners in the residential district is deemed appropriate; such signs, however, to be subordinate to the primary signs necessary for the location of the property or those residing therein. To provide appropriate regulation of such signs, this and succeeding sections of the Municipal Code are enacted."

Section 2. That the Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition of Section 1306.16, which shall read as follows:

"Section 1306.16. Permanent Sign Regulations. Permanent signs are those signs which shall be made of wood or some equally permanent material, but shall not be self-illuminated, luminescent, fluorescent, or have any characteristic which shall make them glow or shine. Permanent signs may include any of the following, but in any event not more than two (2) permanent signs may be erected and maintained on any one single-family building site. All signs of the type indicated in this section must be permanent signs. In case more than one (1) permanent sign is maintained on a building site, at least one of said permanent signs must be of the nature hereinafter described as Type A herein. Permanent signs of various types shall conform to the regulations required of them hereinafter, respectively. In addition to these specific requirements and regulations, no two (2) permanent signs maintained on any one single-family building site shall have a combined area in excess of three (3) square feet. The various permitted types of permanent signs and their specific regulations are as follows:

Type A. House Name Signs and Occupants' Name Plates.

House name signs and occupants' name plates are those signs which by their nature and wording identify either the house or its occupant, or both, and which essentially take the place of a house number in most communities. Such signs may include pictorial and decorative designs as well as words, and may be in any shape or form, but shall not exceed two (2) square feet in area.

Type B. Lodging House Permit Signs.

Lodging house permit signs are those signs for R-1 residences whose occupants have a current lodging house permit regularly issued by the city, and may be displayed containing any one of the following combinations of words: 'Rooms for Rent,' 'Guest Rooms,' 'Overnight Guests.' Such signs shall be displayed on the front wall of the residential portions of the building on the site or at the building setback line of the property involved, whichever may be nearer the front property line. No such signs shall be placed at a height over eight (8) feet above the natural grade, except that the Design Review Committee may permit a greater height for reasons of visibility. No lodging house permit signs shall be allowed to remain on an R-1 site unless there is a current, paid-up lodging house permit issued for the premises. No lodging house permit signs shall exceed an area of ninety-six (96) square inches.

Type C. Special Use Permit Signs.

Special use permit signs are those signs which may be specifically approved by the Design Review Committee to be used in connection with conditional uses for sites which have been granted a use permit by the Board of Adjustments under Article 9 of Part X of this Code. Such signs shall be regulated by the terms of the use permit authorizing their maintenance.

Type D. Home Occupation Signs.

Home occupation signs are those signs designating a permitted home occupation in the R-1 District being carried on at the site. The legend designating the home occupation may be merged with occupant's Type A sign, thus constituting one sign; or may, at the occupant's option, be stated on a separate sign, provided, however, that such separate sign shall not exceed an area of ninety-six (96) square inches."

Section 4. That the Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition of a new section to be known as Section 1306.17, Temporary Sign Regulations, which shall read as follows:

"Section 1306.17. Temporary Sign Regulations. Temporary signs are such signs as may be needed from time to time to indicate that the premises are "For Sale" or "For Rent." They shall use such word combinations of such signs but may also include a telephone number or the phrase, "Inquire Within," but no other wording, emblem, or insignia shall be permitted. Temporary signs shall not exceed 144 square inches (one square foot) in area and shall be placed on the front wall of the residential portion of the building or at the building setback line of the property, whichever may be nearer the front property line. Temporary signs shall normally be maintained for a period not to exceed thirty (30) consecutive days. Temporary signs may be made of the same material permitted for permanent signs, and in addition, may be made of less durable materials and woods, such as pasteboard; but in no event shall be self-illuminated, luminescent, fluorescent, nor have any characteristic which will make them glow or shine."

Section 5. That the Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition of a new section to be known as Section 1306.18, Signs Necessitated by Considerations of Health, Welfare or Safety, which shall read as follows:

"Section 1306.18. Signs Necessitated by Considerations of Health, Welfare or Safety. Whenever unusual circumstances arising out of unique conditions surrounding a buildings site or caused to its occupancy gives rise to problems of health, welfare and safety that could be substantially alleviated by the use of a sign, such sign as may be necessary for the purpose involved may be erected and maintained pursuant to the terms of a permit issued by the Building Inspector. Such permit shall be issued only upon proper written application for such permit, stating the reasons for such sign, based on considerations of health, welfare or safety. The permit shall state the size, nature and location of the sign approved, if any, and the size of sign shall be restricted to the minimum area necessary to accomplish the purpose involved. Such signs may be either permanent or temporary, depending upon the particular purpose. The applicant shall have the right to appeal the determination of the Building Inspector, to the Board of Adjustments in the same manner as in other determinations of the Building Inspector in connection with the Administration of Part X of the Municipal Code."

Section 6. That the Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby amended by the addition of a new section, to be known as Section 1306.19, Construction Signs, which shall read as follows:

"Section 1306.19. Construction Signs. Whenever a building permit has been issued for the construction, alteration or repair of a structure, and work is in progress on the site pursuant to such permit, contractors or architects engaged in such work, during the time such work is going on may display on the site their sign, which may be either made of materials permitted for permanent or temporary signs as prescribed hereinabove in this article, provided, however, that the following area requirements are complied with:

"No such individual sign displayed on the building site shall be of an area larger than six (6) square feet. No individual contractor or architect shall display more than one sign on any building site at any given time. The total area of construction signs displayed at any one time on the building site, considered together, shall not exceed six (6) square feet."

Section 7. Effective Date. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

Capacity Audiences At 'Rags To Riches'

"Mellerdrama" at its liveliest, funniest and withal tragical best, in the ideally natural setting at California's First Theatre in Monterey, is currently being presented in "Rags To Riches," but with only about four more week-ends to run. This popular hit has been playing to capacity audiences, and seems to get better with each performance. With the nine acts of vaudeville (the olio) which follows the play, an evening of enjoyable entertainment is afforded which should not be missed, and is certainly worth a second viewing.

Outstanding as the villain is handsome, polished Nick Le Feuvre, Jr., who also acts as master of ceremonies and has the audience with him every moment.

Professional status has been achieved with these presentations. By careful, discriminative casting and painstaking direction, each production becomes a highlight of the theatre season drawing enthusiastic response both from the "regulars" and from out-of-town visitors.

As might be expected, especially with featured audience participation in the "sing-alongs," it has become quite the vogue to "get up a party" to attend, and even entire organizations go in a body, occupying an entire block of seats to join in the fun and hilarity.

An entirely new play is in the making for December, and rumors are rife that there is to be a special Christmas play for children, with a beautiful princess, a doughty king, court jester, whimsical wisemen and "magic."

'Star' Cast To Open In Fry Comedy At Circle Tomorrow

Opening tomorrow night at the Circle Theatre, Christopher Fry's witty and poetic romantic comedy, "Venus Observed," will be presented by a cast of local "stars."

Ruth Marion McElroy, Gertrude Chappell, and Marcia Hovick combine their talents as a trio of discarded mistresses who watch their former light of love, an aging but irrepressible duke, embark upon yet another affair with a girl a quarter of a century his junior. The gay young thing and the amorous nobleman are portrayed by Marcia and Fred Rider.

Allen Weinfield contributes a humorous character sketch of a lion tamer. The footman, a reformed burglar, is played by John Seeley, a new-comer to the Circle from the drama department of Boston University.

Terry Poland, juvenile lead in numerous Circle productions, shy and unworldly, is pushed into romantic competition with his father, the duke. Reedbeck, a lovable embezzler, will be played by Dick Bird.

Director Fred Rider says he has long planned to produce "Venus Unobserved," Fry's international success written as a vehicle for Sir Laurence Olivier, who starred in it in London, and directed it on Broadway with Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer in the leading roles.

"I had to have just the right cast," states Mr. Rider, "and now I am satisfied that I have found it."

"Venus Observed" will be presented at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre on week-ends, closing December 13.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

EMIL WHITE
SAILS TO AUSTRALIA

Emil White, painter, author and a long time resident of Big Sur, sailed from San Francisco last Saturday aboard the President Cleveland for Australia. Enroute Mr. White will visit Japan and islands of the South Pacific. While on the continent, down under, Emil White will spend much time with his two children who live there, perhaps do some painting, but his principal interest will be that of visiting with his family and seeing and enjoying the country.

Mr. White is well-known through a series of six guide books which he has published and which have been widely distributed throughout the country—two about Carmel, two on the Hearst Castle, one on Big Sur and the latest, "Big Sur Guide To The Circle of Enchantment."

White has had many offers to prepare guides to other areas, such as Carmel Valley, Santa Barbara, Sonoma county, Santa Cruz and Santa Fe, New Mexico, but so far he has refused them all because "it would entail more traveling and the opening of one or more offices, etc., and, of course, a telephone."

Gateway Center Fund Campaign

Major John F. Wecker (USA ret.) of Carmel has been named chairman of a campaign, starting Sunday, to be conducted here by the Monterey Peninsula Council for Retarded Children, Joseph Real, president, announces.

The Monterey Peninsula Council for Retarded Children is a member of the National Association for Retarded Children. Gateway Center, the major project of the council is now in full operation with a staff of two specially trained teachers, assisted by volunteers, working under the direction of a psychologist, Dr. James Jay Tschudy. Twenty children are currently enrolled with several applications for enrollment pending. The school operates on an annual budget of $35,000, of which $10,000 must be raised by public donation.

While she cannot claim birth or residence in Carmel, Eleanor Cameron, above, widely known author of juvenile books, stories of magic and outer space, might easily claim honorary citizenship.

Mrs. Cameron, who will talk of her "Mushroom Planet" series, and her most recent book, "A Spell Is Cast," before the third, fourth grades at Woods and River Schools and fifth and sixth grade classes at Sunset School, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, has been a constant visitor to Carmel and the Peninsula since early childhood, and has set the scenes in her stories right here in Carmel—in Pacific Grove—in Carmel Highlands, and along the rocky shores of Big Sur.

The daughter of Mrs. Florence Warren, for many years a Carmel resident and now making her home in Carmel Valley Manor, Mrs. Cameron, who grew up in Berkeley, started writing stories at the age of 12 years, sending her manuscripts to the Berkeley Gazette Young Authors Page. Within the year she won the State Author Award of one dollar, "And from that day onward, I never stopped writing," she tells.

"It was on Monterey Peninsula that I 'saw' my characters living, where the wonderful space ship was planned, and the explorers took off."

"A Spell Is Cast," Mrs. Cameron's most recent book, is set in Carmel Highlands. Young readers will easily recognize the "castle," the stretches of beach, and the "magic" that is to be found only on Monterey Peninsula.

An autograph party will be held in "The Magic Fishbone," children's bookshop, Mission street between Fifth and Sixth, on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m., when Eleanor Cameron will greet young readers and their parents.

Party To Come

Beth Thompson, daughter of the Ralph Thompsons, celebrated her tenth birthday yesterday. While the family came forth nobly with gifts, the party, a virtual must for every ten-year-old, is still in the future. "Blame it on Hallowe'en," Beth said, "There is just too much going on this week, but I won't let mother forget!"

Meet New People Party

Mrs. Shirley Walker and Mrs. Alison Franke entertained at dinner and cocktails on Saturday evening in Mrs. Walker's beautiful and spacious home at Mission and First streets.

The hostesses deliberately selected people who didn't know each other, and the illustrated invitations went in all directions and as far south as Los Angeles.

As the guests arrived, they were given pin-on identification cards so that formal introductions were happily disposed of.

Lawyers, a cleric, a college president, a psychologist and doctors, escorting their ladies, plus a splendid showing of teenage sons and daughters, enjoyed unique hospitality.

Following a buffet dinner, the guests were entertained by a folk singer, Lisa Buchenroth of Carmel Valley, whose little known Spanish, Mexican and French ballads won rounds of applause.

Guests included Dr. and Mrs. George Faul, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mearns, the Reverend Karel V. Vit, Mrs. Sally Stotler, John Gamble, Mrs. Richard Creedon, Dr. Charles Rosewall, Mrs. Mary Allman, and Edward Wright.

From out of town were George R. Towner of Oakland, brother of Mrs. Walker; Mr. and Mrs. Keegan Low, with their three children, Keegan Jr., Suzanne and Celia, also from Oakland; Bernard Winters from Los Angeles; and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bates, who have lately come here to live, from Atherton; also Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byers of Gilroy; and, from Hollywood, motion picture producer Alan Pakula escorted his wife, motion picture star, Hope Lange.

Joining the ranks of teen-agers were Kit and Diane Walker, twin son and daughter of the hostess.

A surprise re-union took place when the Keegan Lows spotted Mrs. Creedon. It was last summer that the Lows and Mrs. Creedon rented neighboring farmhouses in France, and their telling of their experiences across the sea delighted everybody.

As they said goodnight the guests were in unanimous agreement with the theory of their hostesses, there is no such thing as a stranger in Carmel.

Coolidge Festival

By invitation from the Library of Congress, Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver left Carmel yesterday for Washington D.C., to attend the three-day Coolidge Festival to be held there in honor of Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, patron of music and musicians. Mrs. Coolidge, who gave the Music Hall in the Library of Congress, would have been 100 years old on October 30.

Carmel knew Mrs. Coolidge's generosity when she supplied the concerts given here by the famous Brosa Quartette more than 25 years ago. The concerts were managed locally by Mrs. Phil Gordon, who is now living in Carmel Valley. Program notes were by Mary Lindsay-Oliver who was then a visitor from New York City.

Miss Lindsay-Oliver will be the houseguest of Dr. Stanwood Cobb, noted author, and Mrs. Cobb of Chevy Chase. During her visit (about three weeks) she plans to execute a portrait of her hostess.

Miss Barbara Kornfeld, a member of the Monterey County Symphony, will occupy Miss Lindsay-Oliver's apartment in her Studio of the Arts for the coming three weeks.

Three U.S. Presidents:

cleared the tracks nationally for railroad peace – Let's complete the job in California!

PROPOSITION 17 makes it possible for California to put into effect the national transportation settlements—worked out by Congress and Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—which eliminate wasteful featherbedding in the railroad industry under terms that insure maximum job protection, yet retain two men in the cab of all trains.

These settlements are now in effect in most states—but not in California because of a conflicting "horse and buggy days" law which Proposition 17 repeals.

To help keep freight rates down—

'Old Timers' Meet

Mrs. John E. Abernethy, who hosted the "Old Timers" first luncheon and bridge party of the season at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club on Thursday, reports the affair a hilarious success.

"There's nothing new about the Old Timers," Mrs. Abernethy explained, "We ladies, that is, four of us, have been getting together at least once every two weeks for the past quarter of a century . . . That was when we first decided that nobody could consider us presumptious if we labelled ourselves 'old timers.'

"We, Mr. Abernethy and I, came here to live 38 years ago. Mrs. Wanda Crowley, who will entertain the group on November 19, at the Country Club, has been on the Peninsula the same length of time.

"The other two charter members are Mrs. James Finley and Mrs. Louis Vidoroni. The late Dr. Finley and Mrs. Finley came to Carmel to live, in 1924, and the Vidoronis have made their home in Monterey since 1928."

There are now thirteen ladies, members of the Old Timers Club. Included are Mrs. J. D. Thorn, Mrs. Clayton Neill, Mrs. Leslie Dewar, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Earl Glennon, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Donald Hodgson, Mrs. O. W. Irwin and Mrs. Edward Gross

Honor guests at Thursday's bridge-luncheon were Mrs Edward M. Brown and Mrs. Floyd Vestal.

With Pierre, Mrs. Carlson was entertained at Carolands by a long-time friend of them both, Countess Remillard Dandini, a member of one of California's oldest families who will come to her Carmel home on November 6.

While away, Mrs. Carlson was the guest for two days of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schulman in Palo Alto. She spoke to 50 of their friends and neighbors in their home, also with them attended a performance of "Turandot" at the San Francisco Opera.

The spirit of La Fiesta de San Carlos Borromeo at Carmel Mission Basilica on Sunday promises to be as happy as the faces of the young people pictured above on the steps of the belfry of the church founded nearly two centuries ago by Father Junipero Serra.

Sunday's event will be a revival of the feast of the patron saint of the Mission first celebrated in Father Serra's time, but discontinued 27 years ago.

At noon a procession will advance from the Basilica to the courtyard where Mass will be said outdoors at 12:15. Festivities will start after this. These will include entertainment in the courtyard by Manuel Campos' mariachi band and Mexican dancers; a teen-age dance in Crespi Hall with music by The Imperials; a chicken barbecue from 1 - 5 p.m.; pinatas and games for children; open house at Junipero Serra School in the Mission compound.

Tickets may be obtained on Sunday at the gate, or from members of the Knights of Columbus (Billie Burke Council), Junipero Serra School Mothers' Club; Catholic Daughters; and the Altar Society ($1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children). The above organizations are sponsoring the event.

To Be Honored

Active employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Quarter Century Club will attend the annual Coast Valley's Division dinner tomorrow night at the Mark Thomas Inn.

The event will honor two new members who have completed 25 years of service. To be presented with gold watches will be Mrs. R. A. Bannister of Carmel and Edward M. Kelly of Salinas.

Since the club's formation, five years ago, 3,617 men and women have been admitted to membership.

"I know a little garden-close
Set thick with lily and red rose
Where I would wander if I might
From dewey morn to dewey night . . ."

William Morris, English poet and artist, wrote this in 1853. If he were looking for a home in Carmel, we would promptly take him to see these three little gardens, all of which require more love than work:

A MINIATURE ENTRY COURT has an oak tree with hanging fuschias for its focal point, and the enclosed brick patio is shrub and flower-bordered, with an entrance to the master bedroom and 27 feet of window wall into the living room. The house which goes with it is an immaculate 2 bedroom, 2 bath home with an up-to-the-minute kitchen and a huge living room and fireplace, all newly carpeted and draped, and all this for only $35,000. Can't see where you could spend another penny!

THIS LOVELY BRICK HOME is smartly set off in the front by lawn and trimmed shrubbery, but the garden for wandering is in the rear, just off a wonderful lanai-patio room. Sunny, brilliant with flowers, even a tiny vegetable garden, this is really a delight. In one of our Best Areas, on Randall Way, it features 3 large bedrooms, 2 baths, full dining room. The price is only $49,500.

THIS BRICKED PATIO is also accompanied by a lanai room with a fireplace. Entry yard is attractively planned for little care, so you can spend all your time in the patio. This decorator's home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof; is carpeted and draped, with a sunny kitchen, entry hall, central heat and only $45,000. Location is near the Mission.

of the late Miss Elizabeth Niles, for many years head librarian at Harrison Memorial Library, this house accommodates four older persons. Its purchase was made possible by the generous bequest to the foundation in Miss Niles' will.

However, the city's zoning laws do not allow apartments to be built on Niles House land, so the foundation kept seeking for some means of providing low-priced apartments for those of their membership who needed this type of housing. In Winona Lodge the answer was found and Miss Niles' bequest also aided in the purchase of this facility.

The apartment house will be named Trevvett Court in honor of the late Mrs. Sidney A. Trevvett.

Carmel Foundation "owes its origin and support in the years of its beginning and the proving of its value, fundamentally to Jane Egan Trevvett, honorary life president," Dr. Remsen Bird, member of the board of directors of Carmel Foundation, states in a tribute.

At Trevvett Court, which will be dedicated November 15, eleven members of Carmel Foundation will be housed. This number will include a resident manager, also a member of the foundation.

The apartments, with kitchenettes, will rent for $55 to $80 a month depending on size and may be furnished, or unfurnished, as desired by the tenants. The rent paid includes utilities and twice-monthly cleaning.

Trevvett Court was purchased from D. Rolland Martin at the asking market rate. Niles House and Trevvett Court are an "encouraging start," Mrs. Glascock says. She adds that "The hope is, of course, that this much needed service can be expanded as special donations and bequests make adequate funds available."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOMINEES

Carmel nominees for the board of directors of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce are Gus Johnson, James Rowe, Phil Coniglio and Arthur Strasburger. Two of these are to be elected. Nominated members-at-large include Gordon Reid and George Walker.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING ON NOVEMBER 4

Next Wednesday evening, the city council will receive the planning commission's report on areas which have asked the council to allow annexation petitions to be circulated. This report deals with planning and zoning, also the order of importance of any annexation, if approved by the council.

Also on the November 4 agenda will be consideration of the formation of a minicipal code commission, to review the city's laws as proposed by Councilman Stephen Grant; and a request from Security National Bank for time limit parking near their new Pine Inn branch.

Second reading and adoption of an ordinance increasing the city's motel tax to 4 percent is scheduled for next week's meeting, also the proposal of Councilman Gunnar Norberg to control double parking by trucks in the business zone.

And as they do undauntedly every year, the Carmel Business Association will ask permission Wednesday to turn on the municipal Christmas tree lights on Ocean Avenue on December 1 instead of December 15, the traditional date.

Planners To Invite Large Landowners To Public Meeting

Lincoln and Ocean in Pine Inn courtyard, for which, Mr. Smith said, the bank has a 20-year lease.

Chairman Dorothy von Meier and Commissioner Fred Keeble thought the entrance columns were not in keeping with the overall appearance of the Pine Inn complex and wished changes made. Commissioner J. B. Martin stated he would like to see more detailed drawings of the entrance. However, a building permit was approved subject to the conditions above.

Commissioners also asked James Pruitt of Comstock Associates to see if the roof of the parking structure and facility for Derek Rayne Ltd. could be somewhat modified from its box-like appearance. A building permit for this development was approved, also permits for a revision of plans for the store complex being constructed by 977, Incorporated on the west side of Mission above Seventh.

nothing be done to attract more tourists and an effort be made to improve the quality of tourists; no more hotels, motels or liquor outlets be allowed; annexation of outlying areas be encouraged; a search be made for untapped sources of city revenue.

Previous to this however, City Attorney John Morse pointed out that it is possible to enact legislation on the first two matters and the planning commission is working on the second. The third matter could only be handled by legislative control of the first two.

The fifth suggestion also was subject to legislation and the seventh was "up to anyone." The city cannot "force" annexation and the more attractive Carmel is made the more tourists there will be, he added.

Mr. Morse made it clear, though, that the state controls the number of liquor outlets and the city is powerless to legislate in this field.

Councilman Norberg reiterated that annexation cannot be "forced" but he advocated that the areas with "city services and country living" be subject to differential county taxation thus freeing cities from the county taxes to benefit these areas. He proposed parking permits as a new revenue source, 2,000 square feet per unit motel control, and bulk and site control of business development.

Councilman Grant agreed that the blame was every citizen's. He deplored what he termed "a creeping greed" and the tendency of citizens to want municipal laws to apply to everyone but them.

Councilman Whittlesey was of the opinion that the control of bulk and size of business buildings stifled architectural creativity. He deplored the fact that service businesses were being forced out of town by rising land values.

Councilman Buffington agreed with Mr. Norberg on differential taxation. He thought the present 1,000 per square feet per unit motel control had provided for "the birth of large motels" in the city and forced out the small motel operator. Any increase in this control would mean larger motels, he observed.

Mayor Blanks said he did not favor a policy of "positive negativeness" in the city. If the 5,000 residents want to be "isolationists" a way to effect this would be to make the city as unattractive as possible, he contended. He cited the development of Sunset School as a cultural center as an example of fulfilling citizens wishes but tending to increase tourism, even though it might improve the quality of tourists. He asked members of the citizens committee to "face the cold hard facts of life."

Mayor Blanks closed the session by remarking that although nothing definitive had been accomplished, the mutual problems of the city had been presented. He proposed another meeting in two or three months, after councilmen had studied expanded minutes of last night's meeting.

"We want to do better than we're doing," he concluded.

basis for advancement in the salary schedule.

Mr. Bair stated that 63 percent of California high schools have adopted these requirements, and are in force today. He further recommended that a leadership program be worked out, the aim of which would be to encourage teachers with leadership abilities and the willingness to help other teachers in their departments.

MODERATE REPUBLICANS
ASK YOURSELVES

(1) What philosophies and values have made you a Republican?
(2) Are these Republican ideals being respected and preserved by those who have captured our party's banner?
(3) When has the Republican Party stood for thought control through threats of loss of "friendships," business, or even life?
(4) "Deep in your heart" do you feel this election offers you an attractive choice, or are you in reality a man without a party?

SOLUTION

PURGE the destructive elements from our party! HOW? Vote for Johnson Now . . . so that our house will be clean by 1968. A clear rejection of meddling fanatics will send them back to their home on the fringe where they belong. Republicans would then be free to support a candidate who respects our traditions in 1968.

APATHY on your part carries with it the stigma of being a bed-fellow with those who conspire toward the demise of the Republicanism so vital to us, and essential to America's political health.
